

Government sets up sports committees

*****

The Government has set up two sports committees to promote a territory-wide sporting culture in Hong Kong.

The Community Sports Committee will be chaired by Mr Chau How-chen and the Major Sports Events Committee by Mr Herman Hu Shao-ming.

Secretary for Home Affairs, Dr Patrick Ho, said: "The Community Sports Committee will advise the Government on the strategies to promote community participation in sports, and ways to foster partnership with different sectors in all 18 districts for promotion of community sport.

"The committee will seek to develop a closer working relationship with District Councils, local sports bodies and the education sector with a view to promoting activities and creating a sustainable sporting culture at the community level."

"The Major Sports Events Committee will advise the Government on the initiatives for the promotion of major sports events in Hong Kong. Through inter-sectoral collaboration, it will cultivate and mobilize corporate sponsorship and the support of key stakeholders from the sports, tourism and business sectors to host major sporting events on a regular basis, which would in turn add impetus to sports development and generate economic benefits to the community."

The two committees will also make recommendations on the funding priorities in respect of community sports and major sports events in Hong Kong.
